

It's Not Going To Write Itself!

Thinking about writing is great. Doing the dishes to avoid writing is also great. That way the dishes get done. But the greatest thing about writing is writing. In this workshop, participants will churn out scads of paper, and go home with tons of words on previously blank sheets. Through a series of guided exercises, prompts, and music, you'll produce all kinds of words to take home and refine as you wish. Come with an existing project in mind, or start from scratch. While everyone works on computers now, pen/pencil and paper are best for this workshop. Bring your favourite writing implements and whatever paper strikes your fancy. That - and your willingness to open up to the words - is all you'll need.

**This workshop takes place in Edson on the same day as Write Nite. If you're from out of town, make a day of it! Come for the workshop, have dinner in town, then come to Mojo's Java for Write Nite in the evening.****
